HOSPITAL PROGRESS

VOL. XXI SPECIAL DIRECTORY NUMBER 1940

The Catholic Hospital and School of Nursing at the End of 1939

Alphonse M. Schwitalla, S.J. and M. R. Kneifl

Foreword

The Eleventh Annual Directory of the Catholic Hospitals and Schools of Nursing of the United States and Canada is presented to the public at a most auspicious moment. The Catholic Hospital Association of the United States and Canada which has sponsored this directory is this year celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of its existence. HOSPITAL PROGRESS, the official organ of the Association, is this year celebrating its twentieth anniversary. The present directory, therefore, may be said to be a monument to the progress of the Catholic hospital and school of nursing activity in the United States and Canada. It summarizes the achievements of twenty-five years of intense administrative, welfare and educational activity in the Catholic institutions which are concerned for the nation's health and for the preparation of those who are to assume in the future the responsibilities for the nation's well-being.

For another reason, however, this directory might be regarded as most timely. Just at the present time the private institutions are concerned, not without anxiety, for their own self-preservation. The growing development of governmental institutions, the resources of personnel and funds made available to them through the largesses of government and perhaps, too, a certain psychological attitude which has been developed among our people has increased the concern of those who are watching with caution, not unmixed with worry, the growing importance of the governmental institutions. The attitude of the private institutions is surely not one of envy. It is rather with fear lest the pattern which has been built up through a century and a half of cooperative effort between private initiative and governmental influence and which has led to such indescribable achievements in the national polity, economics and welfare, should be disturbed by an over-emphasis on one partner of the partnership. If such an over-emphasis is allowed to progress it will slowly but with inevitability lead to such a repression of the private institution that its importance and influence will wane, with a loss, it may be emphatically stated, of many of the cultural achievements which have made democracy both in Canada and in the United States. It was hoped that this directory which affords such convincing evidence of the vigor, the worth and the achievement of the private institution may contribute its little share towards the maintenance of those values, the passing of which might mark an irreparable loss in our national life.

For still a third reason the appearance of this eleventh annual directory is particularly timely. In welfare work the emphasis has been progressively placed upon techniques and procedures but less so upon planning and philosophizing and still less so upon the motivation of activity, and yet both technique and planning must derive their efficacy from those drives to action through which thinking is transmuted into doing, thought into action, plans into program. Among these drives, especially in the welfare field, the motivations in religion especially must hold the first place. Historically as well as pragmatically there are no motivations entirely comparative to those in religion for actuating human activity. More particularly in the Catholic Church, action must result from that supernaturally founded faith which adores God in the God-man Christ, which loves that human and divine Christ in the beggar and the pauper, in the hungry and the naked, in the imprisoned and the sick. The Catholic hospital which is not a good Catholic hospital cannot possibly be a good hospital for it fails to achieve the purposes for which it was founded and must, therefore, term itself a failure. Such failures are a menace not only to the effectiveness of religion but to the effectiveness of welfare work and to the effectiveness of national life.

One other significance we see in this directory. Last August we celebrated the 300th anniversary of the coming of the Sisters to our American shores. Within another two years we shall celebrate the 300th anniversary of the coming of Jeanne Mance to Montreal to found the second still extant institution for the care of the sick in these two countries. If these two tercentenaries are juxtaposed, they present to us the integration of hospital work and nursing. If Mother de St. Ignace must be regarded as the mother of hospital activity in the United States and Canada, so Jeanne Mance must be regarded as the mother of nursing, devoting as she did so much of her life to personal service in the interest of the sick and stimulating so many others to follow her along the path in which she led. This directory appears between these two tercentenaries. It offers evidence that the heroic pioneering of those gigantic French women has resulted in effects that are commensurate in a noteworthy way to be sure, with their heroism.

Those who have worked in the compilation of this document, place it trustfully at the feet of Christ, begging Him to accept this record of service as evidence for the claims to His love, which claims alone we know actuate the hearts and minds of the 25,000 Sisters, the 1,000 brothers, the 22,000 student nurses, the army of physicians and the even greater army of auxiliary workers who care for the sick in the more than 1,100 institutions, over the doors and roofs of which the Cross of Christ is raised as a symbol of service to the sick.

1. Review of Twenty-five Years

AT THIS time when the Catholic Hospital Association is becoming increasingly conscious of its growing age, now that we are celebrating the twenty-fifth year of its existence, a short reminiscing summary would surely not be out of place. When the Catholic Hospital Association was formed in 1915, there were in the United States approximately 541 Catholic hospitals and in Canada approximately 90, a total of 631. The Catholic hospitals of the United States at that time had a combined bed capacity including bassinets of 60,300, and those of Canada, 10,550. The average size of the Catholic hospitals in the United States at that time was 112 beds and in Canada 117 beds.

In the present directory which summarizes the statistics of the Catholic hospitals of the United States and Canada for the year 1939, we are reporting 682 Catholic hospitals in the United States and 179 in Canada. The Catholic hospitals in the United States contain a total bed capacity of 90,976 and those of Canada 29,924, exclusive of bassinets which number 13,174 and 3,022 in the two countries respectively. Combining beds and bassinets for the current year to reach a figure comparable with the statistics of 1915, there are today in the United States and its Possessions 106,380 beds and in Canada 32,946 beds, or a grand total of 139,326. In twenty-five years, therefore, the total bed capacity has doubled. The average size also has increased in the United States from 112 to 154 inclusive of beds and bassinets and in Canada from 117 to 188.

More striking even are the statistics concerning the number of persons served. On the basis of reliable figures, it may be estimated that in 1915 the Catholic hospitals of the United States and Canada served 925,000 patients each year. Last year the Catholic hospitals of the United States alone cared for 1,969,-788 and those of Canada for 487,954 patients, approximately two and one-half million patients per year. The number of in-patients served, therefore, in twenty-five years has increased 170 per cent. In that same period the population of the United States has increased 29 per cent and that of Canada 50 per cent, while the increase in the number of Catholics in the United States in the same period was 36 per cent. The growth of the Catholic hospital, therefore, in the last quarter century represents a noteworthy achievement.

2. The Number of Hospitals

The gain in the number of Catholic hospitals both in the United States and Canada has continued unabated during the last year. As a matter of fact, ten new Catholic hospitals were added to the list in the United States in 1939 and in Canada three new ones. A study of the statistics which were presented in the Directory for 1939, showed that from the period from 1918 to 1939, the average increase in the number of hospitals per year was six. The gain therefore in the number of hospitals during 1939 is really 60 per cent greater than the average of the last twenty years. The average increase per year in the number of Catholic hospitals in Canada was 3.6 over a period of twenty-five years. During the last year the increase was three, almost equal to the average increase during the twenty-five year interval. During 1939 no Catholic hospitals were closed either in the United States or Canada, but one hospital was amalgamated with another hospital of its own Sisterhood within close proximity to it, so that the net increase is only nine.

At the present time there are 682 Catholic hospitals in the United States and 179 in Canada. For purposes of telling a more complete story, it should be remembered that attached to a large number of our Catholic institutions there are supplementary units which for statistical purposes might well be classified as separate hospitals. These units in most cases have special names and are referred to separately in publicity and have certain features of administration and service quite distinct from those of the parent hospitals to which these units are attached. In the statistics of the Catholic Hospital Association these have never, however, been counted as independent units. The criterion for separate listing which has been used in the office of the Catholic Hospital Association has been the chief administrative officer. If there was one Sister Superior for the complex organization, it has been counted as one institution. In the United States there are at the present 83 such units attached to the 682 hospitals; in Canada 32 attached to 179 hospitals. The bed capacity of these units is included in the total bed capacities.

In addition to the hospitals, there are allied hospital agencies on which for the last nine years this directory has supplied data under the terminology of Hospital and Medical Agencies. These allied agencies are for the most part not attached to hospitals so that they are justifiably counted as independent and separate institutions. Since, however, they are functioning as hospital service institutions and since, furthermore, they are comparable in most of their features to small hospitals ranging in bed capacity from ten to thirty-five, they may be justifiably looked upon as agencies allied to hospitals. Their number is still on the increase. Year by year new agencies of this kind spring up or the Association discovers their existence. Their functioning is important at the present time when so much is being concentrated on the establishment of hospitals especially in rural areas where a large percentage of these agencies are located. Last year we listed in this directory a total of 127 such agencies. This year we are reporting 137 of them. Four of the latter number have units attached to them which might in all cases be regarded as independent units.

The complexities in the hospital statistics dealing with numbers are not exhausted even by these considerations. Year after year there are discovered in the returns made by Catholic hospitals an increasing number of institutions which though not themselves hospitals, nevertheless, have relatively large infirmary or similar services. Many of these have bed capacities of 100 or more and are administered equivalently as if they were small hospitals with separate nursing, diagnostic, and other medical services, different, however, in completeness and extent of service from institution to institution. In statistics which purport to give a complete record of the health and hospital service under Catholic auspices these institutional agencies would undoubtedly require inclusion and are so included by the American Medical Association. While we have reported upon them in the past, they have not been included in the totals of Catholic hospitals. At the present time there are 67 such institutional units in Catholic institutions in the United States.

Finally, attention should be called to the existence and functioning of 48 visiting-nurse agencies in the United States and its Possessions, also conducted entirely under Catholic auspices which undoubtedly are indicative of the volume of health and hospital service rendered by the religious orders of the Church. In the United States Possessions there are 27 hospitals and 23 hospital and medical agencies. In Canada there are 81 hospital and medical agencies, an increase of four during the last year. There are 18 institutional hospital service units and 7 visiting-nurse agencies, these two totals representing no increase during the last year. These statistics are summarized in Table I.

3. The Number of Beds

The increase in the number of institutions here reported is, of course, paralleled by the increase in bed capacities. In the hospitals in the United States and its Possessions there is at present a total of 93,008 beds, this being an increase of approximately 2,100 over last year. In Canada and Newfoundland there are 29,924 beds in the Catholic hospitals, an increase of 1,800, while in the hospital and medical agencies at the present time there are 8,193 beds, an increase of 1,900 over the totals reported at the end of 1938. These increases, especially for the bed capacities of the hospital and medical agencies in Canada, represent to a limited extent a better exploration of the field for statistical purposes but to a more negligible extent an actual increase in the extent of facilities. In the bed capacities of the hospital and medical agencies, there has been an increase of only 300 beds in the United States so that at the present they number 7,293.

In the Catholic hospitals and hospital and medical agencies in the United States and its Possessions at the present there are 102,451 beds and in Canada 38,-117 beds or a grand total in the two countries of 140,-568 beds, as compared with the exactly corresponding figure of 132,959 beds at the end of 1938, an increase of 5.7 per cent. To these totals should be added first of all the 13,352 bassinets in the United States, 201 in the Possessions, and 3,990 in Canada. If all of these were added together the number of beds and bassinets would reach 158,111. The statistics dealing with beds and bassinets are summarized in Table II.

4. The Average Size

In a special study made in 1939 of the average institutional size in the Catholic hospital field of the United States, it was shown that 31.7 per cent of our institutions have bed capacities between 101 and 200; that 27.9 per cent have from 51 to 100 beds; and that 22 per cent of the Catholic general hospitals are smaller than 51 beds while 18.3 per cent are larger than 200 beds. In this present study no special effort was made to assemble data which would offer comparisons with these general statements in other divisions and classifications of the general hospital field. Merely for the completeness of the information, however, it should be noted that at the present time the average size of the Catholic hospital in the United States is 133.4 beds and that in Canada there has been an appreciable increase in the average size of the Catholic hospital, it being at present 167.1 beds, an increase of 5.4 per cent during the last year. The fact that although there was an increase in the number of Catholic hospitals in the United States, the average size of the hospital has slightly decreased from 133.6 to 133.4, is indicative of the size of the institutions which are being added to our list. All of those added during the last year are under 50 beds in size except one and nine of the ten are located in rural areas. Five of the ten are located in areas which might be said to be at the hospital frontier, that is in regions in which hospital facilities have been relatively undeveloped.

5. Occupancy

In the United States the average daily census of our hospitals was 102.2 patients and in Canada it was 117.1. This census indicates an average daily occupancy of 67.0 in the United States and 66.3 in Canada. In the United States there has been a 2.2 per cent increase in the occupancy percentage; in Canada, however, almost a 20 per cent increase (this figure may not be entirely reliable due to the incompleteness of certain basic data for the year 1939).

Geographical differences in the percentage of occupancy of our hospitals suggests some interesting considerations. Nowadays, especially when occupancy means so much in the determination of national policies with reference to the increase of hospital facilities, trends of more hospital occupancy are particularly significant. We have accordingly attempted to study the trends in occupancy in the five accepted geographical areas and have used for our comparisons the three years 1937, 1938 and 1939, the three years in which the most noteworthy changes are said to have occurred in economic recovery. Table III summarizes the available data and it should be noted that if any discrepancies comparing daily census are detectable within this table as compared with other tables in this report, they are due to the fact that in this table we are using the actual daily census reported by the hospitals, whereas in some other tables the daily occupancy has been calculated from gross totals.

An inspection of the table will reveal the surprising fact that in all five areas of the country the average daily census has increased from 1937 as compared with 1938 but that the average daily census has dropped in the Far West States although it increased in the other four statistical areas in 1938 as compared with 1939. The percentage of occupancy exhibits a notably different pattern comparing first the 1937 with 1938 figures. The percentage of occupancy went up in all of these areas except in the North and Middle Atlantic States. Comparing 1938 with 1939, however, there is a decrease in the percentage of occupancy in all of the five areas except in the North and Middle Atlantic States. Comparing 1939 with 1937 the percentage of occupancy was higher in all geographical areas except in the South and South Atlantic States and the Far West States. The most noteworthy increase in occupancy occurred comparing 1937 with 1939 in the North and Middle Atlantic States where the occupancy percentage increased by 18.1 per cent. The drop in the Far West States was 9.6 per cent. In view of the impression which prevails quite generally that there was a noteworthy increase in occupancy during the year 1939, the facts summarized in Table III present a striking challenge to the hospital administrators.

In the United States as a whole in these three years, there has been a noteworthy increase in the daily census as well as in the occupancy percentages. Canada, however, as far as our data show for the Catholic institutions, has not paralleled the experience of the United States. Comparing 1937 with 1938 there was a very large decrease in the average daily census as well as in the percentages of occupancy, but a slight increase in the daily census accompanied by a large increase in the percentage of occupancy when the 1938 figures were compared with 1939 so that at the end of 1939 the percentage of occupancy was almost equal to that of 1937 even though the daily census still exhibits considerable lag.

6. Free, Part-Pay and Pay Service

Attention has frequently been called to the fact that economic factors are dominantly operative in determining the volume of free, part-pay and pay service rendered to patients. Approximately half of our Catholic hospitals supplied detailed data on this point which was made one of the special studies this year. For the Catholic hospitals it may be said that in general in the United States one half of the patients were pay patients, one third were part-pay, and one sixth of the patients were free patients. Again there are suggestive geographical variations. We have attempted a summary of a comparative study of the year 1938 to 1939 with reference to this point and the findings are summarized in Table IV. With reference to the free patients, there is an increase in the percentage when the two last years are compared with each other in the Central West States only. In the four other geographical areas, there is a decrease in the percentage of free patients, the greatest decrease being in the North and Middle Atlantic States where there was a decrease of 5.9 per cent of free patients. The next greatest decrease occurred in the Central Northwest States where it amounted to 4.2 per cent. In the Central West States the increase in the percentage of free patients amounted to 2.8 per cent.

The percentage of part-pay patients, comparing 1938 with 1939, increased in four of the five statistical areas but decreased in the Far West States by as much as 5.5 per cent. The increase in the number of part-pay patients was greatest in the North and Middle Atlantic States where it amounted to 5.4 per cent. Next in the order of magnitude of increase were the South and South Atlantic States where the increase amounted to 4.1 per cent.

The percentage of pay patients increased in the Central Northwest States, the Far West States, and in the North and Middle Atlantic States, but decreased in the Central West States and in the South and South Atlantic States. It would seem that some striking correlations may be found in the data summarized in this table with geographical variations in the changes of economic recovery. The most noteworthy shift in the economic status of patients seems to have occurred in the Catholic hospitals of the Far West States in which accompanying an increase of 7.2 per cent in the pay patients there was a decrease of 5.5 per cent in the percentage of part-pay patients and a decrease also of 1.7 per cent in the percentage of free patients. In the Central Northwest States the increase of 3.6 per cent in the number of pay patients and an increase of 0.6 per cent in the number of part-pay patients was accompanied by a decrease of 4.2 per cent in the number of free patients. In the North and Middle Atlantic States there was an increase of only 0.5 per cent in the number of pay patients but an increase of 5.4 per cent in the number of part-pay patients. These two facts account for a decrease of 5.9 per cent in the number of free patients.

It is to be regretted that we cannot offer a corresponding study for Canada, but the general figures based on returns from about one third of the hospitals justify the following conclusions:

There has been an increasing percentage of free patients of 6.2 per cent, the percentage for 1939 being 43 per cent. There has been a noteworthy decrease of 7.3 per cent in the number of part-pay patients and an increase of 1.1 per cent in the number of pay patients. The differences here pointed out between Canada and the United States with reference to the matter under discussion contain some interesting suggestions.

Basing a calculation of the free, part-pay, and pay service on mass statistics, as an example in this study, rather than upon the daily average census, we may derive significant information concerning the number of persons involved in these percentages. Table V carries out the suggestion. The table is comparative inasmuch as it compares the free, part-pay, and pay service rendered by the Catholic hospitals of the United States and Canada for the years 1938 and 1939. It will be seen that by reason of a decrease in the country as a whole of only 1.3 per cent of the free service or almost 30 per Catholic hospital were affected, while an increase of 58,000 persons received part-pay service and an increase of 16,000 paid completely for their services. In Canada 3,000 fewer persons in 1939 than in 1938 received free service from our institutions, an average of approximately 20 per hospital. The number receiving part-pay service was 41,000 smaller in 1939 than in 1938 while the number paying for their service was 16,000 larger.

IN THE introductory paragraph each year when the directory information is being assembled, the Association undertakes the study of some special problems which for one reason or another are of special timely interest. Some of these problems deserve recurring study and even annual study, while others need to be undertaken only at longer intervals. During the compilation of this particular directory, special problems in ten areas were deemed deserving of special consideration.

1. Hospital Approvals

The growth in the percentage of Catholic hospitals which merit approval by the American College of Surgeons has been one of the most gratifying recognitions of hospital excellence. While the increase in the percentage in any one year was, as might be expected, relatively small; nevertheless, as the years progressed our hospitals have reached an approval percentage level which is more than twice as great as the approval percentage in the field as a whole. In this connection, it must, of course, be remembered that the American College of Surgeons has not approved hospitals smaller than twenty-five beds. Since in the Catholic hospital group 28.3 per cent of our hospitals have twenty-five beds or fewer, it would seem to follow that not more than 72 per cent could be approved by the American College of Surgeons. As a matter of fact, at the end of the last year 71.4 per cent of our hospitals had secured either provisional or full approval of the American College of Surgeons. This means, therefore, that practically all of the hospitals which can be approved have been approved by this approving agency. A study of the geographical distribution of approved hospitals also offers some interesting suggestions. Table VI summarizes the pertinent data. It will be seen from an inspection of the table that of 150 Catholic hospitals in the North and Middle Atlantic States, 119 hospitals, or 79.3 per cent, have merited the approval of the College. Next in the magnitude of the percentages comes the Central Northwest statistical area with 75 per cent; thirdly, the South and South Atlantic area with 73.2 per cent; fourthly, the Far West area with 67.3 per cent; and, finally, the Central West area with 64.3 per cent. As already pointed out, these percentages become significant only when compared with the percentages of hospitals of twenty-five or less bed capacity. In Canada, a total of 77, or 43 per cent, of the 179 Catholic hospitals have merited either the full or provisional approval of the American College of Surgeons.

2. Approvals of Hospitals for Internships

The many controversies now in progress with reference to ever so many phases of the hospital internship, its content, its educational significance, its mode of administration, and related problems makes any statement concerning the number of hospitals approved for internship of special timely value. In this matter, too, our Catholic hospitals have shown a progressive, though a relatively slow growth. At the present time, 210 of the 682 hospitals in the United States, or 30.8 per cent, have been thus approved. Here again geographical distribution of the approved hospitals is interesting as revealing certain local interests. Of the 150 hospitals in the North and Middle Atlantic States, seventy-one, or 47.3 per cent, have secured approval for their internships; in the Central West States, 69 of the 196, or 35.2 per cent; in the South and South Atlantic States, 26 of 97 hospitals, or 26.8 per cent, have secured approval for their internships. In the other two statistical areas, 20 per cent or fewer of our Catholic hospitals have thus far merited this recognition.

It is significant to note that the percentage of approvals by the American College of Surgeons does not parallel the approval of the hospitals for internships. This fact, as well as some of its implications, is readily revealed by a study of Table VI. In this connection it should be noted that out of a total of 734 hospitals approved for internship by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association, 210, or 28.6 per cent, are Catholic hospitals. Since Catholic hospitals number not more than 10 per cent of all the hospitals theoretically eligible for the approval of their internships, the percentage thus approved must be considered very gratifying. In Canada, only 21 of the 179 hospitals, or 13.4 per cent, have merited the approval of their internship, and three have been recommended for approval.

3. Approval of Residencies

The approval of residencies in our Catholic hospitals has not progressed to as gratifying a degree as one might desire for one reason or another, possibly due to a lag of interest or to a failure to understand purposes of the residency. Relatively little advance has been made over a period of years. During the last year, however, the number of hospitals in which there are approved residencies has at least shown an appreciable increase, a forerunner, it may be hoped, of continuing progress in this direction. At the present time, 50 of our Catholic hospitals in the United States have some approved residencies, an increase of one fifth or 20 per cent over the 40 hospitals which were reported in our 1939 Directory. In these 50 hospitals, there are 111 different approved residencies, with 131 incumbents.

The most favored field in which our Catholic hospitals have sought the approval of their residencies is in surgery, in which field there are 30 residencies in our Catholic hospitals. In medicine, there are 21, in obstetrics and in obstetrics and gynecology together there are 16, and in pathology there are 11. There are 5 approved residencies in pediatrics and in radiology and 5 of the mixed residencies have also merited approval. In urology and in orthopedics, 4 residencies are approved; in ophthalmology and otolaryngology, 3, and in cardiology, 2, and one each in the fields of psychiatry, tuberculosis, anesthesiology, gynecology, and dermatology and syphilology. In Canada, there are no approved residencies in our Catholic hospitals.

4. The Medical Staffs

a) The Medical Positions

In compiling the Directory this year a special problem which has been studied for a number of years; namely, the size of the active and courtesy staffs, has been omitted, but the study is to be continued in subsequent years. Instead, attention was focused upon special medical positions on the staffs of our hospitals in which again there seems to be more than ordinary interest just at present.

b) The Number of Medical Anesthetists

The number of medical anesthetists in our hospitals has gone up in the United States from 193 to 333 in a five-year period, since this study was made previously by our Association. In Canada, during the same period the number of medical anesthetists went up from 58 to 90.

c) The Number of Pathologists

The number of pathologists has increased from 404 to 517 in the United States, and from 71 to 94 in Canada.

d) The Number of Roentgenologists

Finally, the number of roentgenologists has increased from 365 to 501 in the United States and from 66 to 88 in Canada.

5. Tenure of Office

It is interesting year after year to summarize the conditions affecting tenure of certain major administrative positions in our Catholic hospitals. Among these should be mentioned, primarily, the changes in the position of Superintendent of the hospital, of the chief of staff, and of the director of nursing service. It would seem almost as if the annual "turnover" has been more or less stabilized, if we might assume that the data for a three-year period could justify such a conclusion. Table VII contains comparative data with reference to these points for the years 1936, 1937, 1938, and 1939, for both the United States and Canada.

a) Sisters Superintendent

With reference to the Sisters Superintendent of the hospitals, it may be noted that the number of changes in the last year was greater than in the previous three years, as shown by the conditions in which the incumbent has been changed during the last year. In Canada, however, while in 1937 only one tenth of the Sisters Superintendent were changed, during the last year only one sixth was changed, and in the year previous to that only one fourth. By reason of the rather common practice in many of our Sisterhoods of changing Sisters Superior every three or every six years, it would seem as if the percentage of changes would sooner or later become stabilized.

b) Chiefs of Staff

The number of changes in the position of Chief of Staff is, of course, determined largely by the provisions of staff constitutions and by-laws, as well as by internal conditions existing in the institutions. One might expect on purely a priori grounds that the percentage of changes would be greater for the Chiefs of Staff than for the Sisters Superintendent. Such is actually the case. Greater stabilization, however, is noticeable in 1939 with reference to the position of Chief of Staff than was found in 1938.

c) Directors of Nursing Service

Finally, the incumbencies of the director of nursing service are changed about as frequently as the Sister Superintendent of the hospital.

In the United States, with reference to the geographical representation in the percentage of changes in these three major administrative positions, it might be noted that in the North and Middle Atlantic States there were the greatest percentage of changes in the position of the Sister Superintendent; in the Far West

States, there were the greatest percentage of number of changes in the positions of both Chief of Staff and of the Sister Director of the school of nursing. In the country, as a whole, changes were made in the position of the Sister Director in the last year in 21.5 per cent of our Catholic hospitals; in the position of Chief of Staff, in 34.2 per cent; and in the position of Sister Director of Nurses, 23.2 per cent. In Canada, only 18 per cent of the Sister incumbents of the superintendentship were changed during the last year; 26.2 per cent of the Chiefs of Staff; and 20.8 per cent of the Directors of schools of nursing.

6. Catholic and Non-Catholic Patients in Catholic Hospitals

On many occasions, inquiries have reached the Catholic Hospital Association concerning the percentage of Catholic and non-Catholic patients in our Catholic hospitals. This year a special effort was made to secure an accurate answer to this question, with a view of determining a base-line for future studies not only with reference to this specific question but also with reference to many other questions for the solution of which this basic data was necessary. It can now be stated with considerable assurance on the basis of the statistics supplied by more than 2/3 of the Catholic hospitals of the United States and by approximately ½ of those of Canada that for 1939, (a) 42.2 per cent of the patients in the Catholic hospitals of the United States were Catholics; (b) 57.8 per cent were non-Catholics; (c) 61.2 per cent of the patients in the Catholic hospitals of Canada were Catholic; and, (d) 38.8 per cent were non-Catholic. These determinations represent the results of the first study for the Catholic hospitals of Canada, but in 1930 an effort was made to study this question for the Catholic hospitals of the United States. In that time the study showed that 49.5 per cent of the patients were Catholics and 50.5 per cent were non-Catholics. The findings of 1930 and 1939 are sufficiently diverse to suggest the need of some interpretation. Unfortunately, however, data are not available for determining whether the facts here adduced are indicative of a trend. Table VIII summarizes our findings for the year 1939.

*Based on reports concerning "Annual Number" of Patients.

The regional differences are most interesting. The percentage of Catholic patients in our Catholic hospitals follows rather closely the density of the Catholic population in the five statistical areas. It is greatest, 64.1 per cent in the North and Middle Atlantic States; it is second highest, 45.3 per cent in the Central West States; it is third highest, 36.1 per cent in the Central Northwest States; it is fourth highest, 27.1 per cent in the Far West States; and it is lowest, 24.8 per cent in the South and South Atlantic States. Obviously, the percentage of non-Catholic patients is the supplementary percentage to those just given. The numbers of persons affected in these various areas by these percentages are, of course, quite different due to the greater hospital density and perhaps also to the greater hospital bed density in these different areas. While the percentage of Catholics in the North and Middle Atlantic States is highest, the number of persons affected is second highest, since it is exceeded by the number of Catholic patients in the Catholic hospitals of the Central West.

7. Previous Experience and Tenure of Our Sisters Superintendent

Questions concerning the length and character of the previous experience of our Sisters Superintendent recur continuously and with increasing insistence, especially now that so much interest is focused on the field of hospital administration as a separate career for which extensive preparation must be required. The procedure by which our Sisters Superior are appointed to positions of hospital responsibility demands evaluation and interpretation.

Two points in this area of hospital interest were selected this year for special study: (a) the previous preparation of the Sisters Superintendent and (b) the period of present incumbency of the Sisters Superintendent.

a) The Previous Preparation of the Sisters Superintendent

Our findings are summarized in Table IX. Since more than 2/3 of the hospitals in the United States and approximately ½ of the hospitals of Canada supplied data upon this point, considerable reliance can be placed upon the facts summarized in this table. A word of explanation of the headings, however, may not be out of place.

Under the heading "Sisterhood Administration," as a field of previous experience of the present Sisters Superintendent, there were included those who had acted as Mothers General or Mothers Provincial or Assistants to the Mother General or Novice Mistress in their respective Sisterhoods.

Under the heading of "Hospital Administration," there were included those present Sisters Superintendent who had occupied a comparable position in other hospitals, who had been superintendents of other hospitals without being Sisters Superior in other hospitals, those who were Assistant Superiors or Assistant Superintendents, those who acted as Secretaries, Treasurers, Admission Officers, or Office Managers previous to their present appointment or who held other comparable positions.

Under the heading of "Nursing" and "Nursing Education" are included those who acted as directors of nursing service or directors of schools of nursing or as supervisors previous to their present appointment as Sisters Superintendent.

Under the heading of "Departmental Experience" are included those who occupied positions in the hospital such as pharmacists, laboratory technicians, record librarians, dietitians, or anesthetists.

Finally, under the heading of "Other Experience" are included those who held administrative positions as supervisors or Sisters Superior in elementary or high schools, who taught in the elementary or high schools, and finally those who are associated with children's homes.

With these classifications in mind, it is significant that as many as 45.4 per cent of the present incumbents of our Catholic superintendentships have had previous experience in the field of hospital administration, while 35.9 per cent have had previous experience in administrative positions concerned with nursing service or with nursing education. It is equally significant that as many as 5 per cent have participated previously in the general administration of their Sisterhoods. Slightly more than 92 per cent, therefore, of our present Sisters Superintendent have had administrative experience connected with hospitals previous to their present position. For Canada, the percentages are equally gratifying since fully 90 per cent of the Sisters Superintendent have had major administrative responsibilities in hospitals. These facts offer a striking answer to the question whether in the appointment of our Sisters Superior their previous experience is taken into consideration. The answer to the question must hereafter be in accordance with the facts here summarized.

b) Tenure of Present Office of the Sisters Superior

Long periods of tenure in the superintendentships of our Catholic hospitals are, as is well known, relatively rare. It happens frequently enough that in a given Sisterhood a Sister gets the opportunity of acting as Sister Superintendent in several hospitals but her incumbency of the superintendency in any particular hospital exceeds six years only in relatively rare instances. The influence of rule, custom, and in some cases of Canon Law is said to be operative. Table X presents our findings with reference to the present incumbency of the Sister Superintendent. The percentage of incumbents who have been in their present stations for less than one year, for one year, or for two years is in the United States at least practically constant. The percentage of those who have been in office for three, four, and five years is also relatively constant. Nevertheless, there are still as many as 10 per cent of the Sisters Superintendent who have been in their present office longer than six years. Fully 70 per cent of the Sisters Superintendent have been in their present office for three years or for a shorter time, and only 30 per cent, therefore, for a longer period than three years.

In Canada, there is relatively less stabilization in these percentages; thus for example, fully one fourth of the Sisters Superintendent have been in office for two years or less, while one fifth of all of the Sisters Superintendent have been in office for less than one year. A slightly greater percentage than in the United States has held the present office for four years and five years respectively, but a smaller percentage for six years and for more than six years.

These figures raise the question whether or not it might be better for the Catholic hospitals to have Sisters Superintendent hold office in the same institution for long periods. In view of the fact, however, that so large a percentage, almost 50 per cent, have held administrative offices in hospitals prior to their present appointment and that fully 40 per cent additional have been engaged in other major responsibilities in the hospital field, any criticism of the present short period of tenure must be considered as decidedly weakened. In fact, the thesis may readily be defended that present conditions of service as Sister Superintendent tended to keep freshness of viewpoint, alertness, and progressiveness as characteristics of the administration of the Catholic hospital.

8. Special Services

With the increasing responsibilities of the general hospital, it becomes a matter of considerable importance to study the trends concerning the exclusion of certain classifications of patients. At the present time, there is, undoubtedly, a trend in the better general hospitals to determine non-eligibility only after an ascertained medical diagnosis. In other words, the general hospitals today admit patients to the diagnostic service even when the hospital regards itself as incapable of giving therapeutic care to patients afflicted with certain conditions or diseases. Of course, this practice raises serious problems; thus for example, the hospital must be regarded as assuming the obligation to assist a medical non-eligible patient in finding facilities for his care if the diagnosis shows him to be ineligible for continued care in the hospital of first admission. Social service is thus called into play as an indispensable aid in assisting the hospital to carry one of its great obligations. It is for this reason that some hospitals have excluded certain classes of patients, even on the basis of a tentative or provisional diagnosis. The hospitals' policies, therefore, with reference to these matters are extremely important.

As many as 40.5 per cent of our almost 700 hospitals say that they are excluding mental cases; 35.9 per cent, contagious cases; 16.6 per cent, tuberculous cases; and about 4 per cent say that they are excluding alcoholic and venereal cases. Data for Canada are too inadequate to justify general statements. Nevertheless, it might be said that somewhat more than one third of the hospitals exclude contagious and tuberculous patients.

The present interest in this problem certainly demands that a hospital should review its policies in these various respects with great diligence and with attention to public responsibilities.

9. The Care of Negro Patients

Closely allied to the problems related to the policies concerning the exclusion of certain types of cases is that of the care of Negro patients in our Catholic hospitals. Needless to say, other considerations than those adduced above enter into this matter. Regional differences also must be considered as decidedly emphasized in this question. Only 15.75 per cent of our hospitals state definitely that they are excluding Negro patients, while as many as 82 per cent state that they admit them practically all in separate wards or in certain larger units of the institution. It is gratifying to be able to state this on the basis of ascertained facts, since this constitutes a definite answer to questions that are frequently raised.

10. Maternity Service in Catholic Hospitals

For several years the Catholic Hospital Association has studied with some care the statistics for the number of births in our hospitals. During the year just past, there were 1,099,713 births in all the registered hospitals of the United States. Of this number 259,244 infants were born in the Catholic hospitals, 23.6 per cent of all births. The number of births in Catholic hospitals during the last year has increased by 13,338. This increase, however, was slightly smaller proportionately than the increase in the total number of births in registered hospitals. As against the number of births just quoted for 1939, there were in 1938, 1,026,771. The increase for the year 1939, therefore, in all the hospitals was 72,942. Our percentage increase during the year amounted to 5.3 per cent. The general increase in hospital births amounted to 6.6 per cent. The percentage of births in the Catholic hospitals to the total number of births has decreased slightly during the last year from 24.3 per cent in 1938 to 23.6 per cent in 1939. Table XI presents these facts.

TABLE XI. Obstetric Service in the Catholic Hospitals of the United States

Year	No. of all Hospital Births	No. of Births in Catholic Hospitals	Percentage	Total No. of Births in Non-Government Hospitals	No. of Births in Catholic Hospitals	Percentage
1939	1,099,713	259,244	23.6	904,161	259,244	28.7
1938	1,026,771	246,906	24.3	848,237	246,906	29.1

A similar calculation leads to the conclusion that there has also been a decrease of .6 of 1 per cent in the percentage of Catholic births in non-governmental hospitals, the percentage of 1938 being 29.1 per cent and for 1939, 28.7 per cent. The situation, however, is quite different when the number of births in Catholic hospitals is compared with the total number of births in all of the church hospitals. The number of births in church-controlled institutions has increased in 1939 as compared with 1938, the increase being from 336,606 to 360,293. The number of births in our Catholic hospitals in those two years has already been quoted. In 1938 the births in our Catholic hospitals constituted 73.9 per cent and in 1939 exactly 72 per cent.

10. The Relationship of Catholic Schools of Nursing with Educational Institutions

SO MUCH attention has been devoted during the last year especially to the Catholic schools of nursing, and a solution has been published in the pages of HOSPITAL PROGRESS that a fairly general knowledge of the interests of the Catholic schools of nursing may well be assumed on the part of those who are interested in these schools as one of the phases of Catholic hospital activity. Nevertheless, the general statistical facts concerning our schools, especially those facts that vary from year to year, must be reported periodically to insure a proper and continuous evaluation of trends.

1. The Growth of the Catholic School of Nursing

Table XII summarizes significant data concerning the number and size of the Catholic school of nursing during the last ten years. In 1929 the Catholic schools of nursing constituted 19.7 per cent of all of the state-approved schools of nursing of the country and contained 28.6 per cent of the students in the state-approved schools. In that same year, the average size of non-Catholic schools of nursing was 35.2 students, whereas that of the Catholic schools was 51.7 students. Almost immediately after the publication of the data of the original Grading Committee, the number of schools began to drop and some of the Catholic schools also were closed in conformity with the general trend. By 1933, more than 200 of the schools of nursing of the country as compared with 1929 had closed their doors. Again using the figures for 1929 for the base, by 1938 more than 650 schools had closed and by 1939 approximately 800. At the present time, all of the schools of nursing number 63.3 per cent of the number existent in 1929.

The trend in the Catholic group is a parallel one though not so definitely directed towards the reduction in the number of schools. By the year 1933, 413 of the 429 Catholic schools conducted in 1929 were still operating; by 1938, this number had been reduced to 361; and by 1939, to 360. At the present time, 83.9 per cent of the schools existent in 1929 are still in existence. Whereas in 1929 our Catholic schools constituted 19.7 per cent of the total nursing-school field, the percentage in 1939 had risen to 26.2 per cent. With reference to the students in the schools of nursing, the trend is an entirely different one, even though the number of schools was reduced in 1933 as compared with the number in 1929. The number of students in 1933 was fully ten thousand or approximately 13 per cent greater. By 1938, this number was reduced by four thousand, but in 1939 it was almost at the level of 1933. In the Catholic schools, the number was reduced by three thousand as compared in 1929 with 1933, but in the subsequent five-year period, the number increased by almost four thousand, even though in the general field the number had decreased by four thousand. A further increase of 1,600 has taken place during 1939.

The situation at the present time in the United States may, therefore, be briefly summarized as follows with reference to the Catholic schools of nursing: (a) In 1929, the percentage of Catholic schools was 19.7 per cent of the whole field; in 1939, it was 26.2 per cent; (b) in 1929, the number of students in the Catholic schools of nursing constituted 28.6 per cent of all the student nurses; whereas today it constitutes 29.1 per cent. The influence which these statistics have on the average enrollment of the students are also interesting. In 1929, the average enrollment of the Catholic schools of nursing was 51.7 student nurses but in all of the schools of nursing the average was only 35.2 student nurses. In 1939, it was 69.2 students.

The available data for Canada permit the comparison of our data for 1939 with the latest published data which, however, refer to 1937. Accepting this comparison, we find that the 75 Catholic schools of nursing constitute 41.8 per cent of the total of 180 Canadian schools, while the 4,696 students of the Catholic schools constitute 52.8 per cent of the 8,895 student nurses. The average size of the schools of nursing in Canada is 49.4 student nurses as compared with the average size of the Catholic schools of nursing which is 62.6 student nurses, with reference to trends in Canada.

2. The Enrollment by Classes

The value which we have here assigned to the average enrollment of the Catholic schools of nursing is open to some doubt. It is based on the reported actual total enrollments of the 360 Catholic schools of nursing. For the purposes of determining class size, however, it was thought better to include in the study only those schools which admitted only one class a year. The study of class size, therefore, was based on reports from 203 Catholic schools of nursing in the United States. With this procedure considerable ambiguity arises and this, too, despite the fact that an effort was made in the questionnaire to define accurately the difference between the preliminary students and the first-year students.

The average size of the school of nursing based on class enrollments as here defined is 87.9 students per school (27.7 per cent). Of this number 25.9 students constitute the preliminary class; 20.4 students (21.9 per cent), the first-year class; 22.8 students (23.4 per cent), the second-year class; and 18.8 students (20.2 per cent), the third-year class. With the limitations as here given, it is probable that we have arrived at a more reliable distribution by classes than has been possible in the past when the fact that among the students admitted in a particular school year there were both preliminary and first-year students due to the custom of admitting students twice in the same year causing discrepancies in class size.

During the current year, there seems to be a slight reduction in the number of Sister students. Whereas in 1938 we reported 3.5 per cent of Sister students in the Catholic schools of nursing, during the current year, the enrollment totals only 3 per cent.

The class enrollment figures for Canada have never been entirely satisfactory as noted in previous reports.

3. Non-Catholic Students in Catholic Schools

The statistics with reference to the number of non-Catholic students attending our Catholic schools of nursing have always been regarded as fairly reliable. This year the average number of non-Catholic students is 23.8 per school as compared with 24.3 per school in 1938, and the percentage of non-Catholic students has dropped from 37.5 for 1938 to 30.5 for 1939.

4. Advanced Academic Standing of Students

Students seeking admission to our Catholic schools of nursing after having secured some previous college education have decreased by approximately 300 as compared with 1938. One hundred and forty-five schools sending replies to the inquiry on this point reported as follows: 3 student nurses had already achieved the master's degree, 37, the bachelor's degree; 22 have had 3 years of college; 221, 2 years of college; 803, 1 year of college; 56, a semester of college study; and 119 have attended normal schools for varying lengths of time. The distribution and percentages correspond rather closely to those given to the statistical figures for corresponding data for 1938. The average number per school seeking advanced standing in 1938 was 9.2 students and for 1939 it was 8.0 students.

5. The Preparation of the Sisters Director of Schools of Nursing

A first study of the previous experience of Sisters occupying the position of director of schools of nursing was made for this present directory. The previous experience was classified under four headings: Administration, Nursing and Nursing Education, Hospital Departmental Experience, and Other Experience. Table XIII shows the results of our present study.

TABLE XIII. Previous Experience of Directors of Schools of Nursing — Immediate Previous Position

	United States		Canada
	Number	Percentage	Number	Percentage
Administration	16	5.3	1	1.6
Nursing and Nursing Education	258	84.9	50	78.1
Departmental Experience	6	7.9	8	12.5
Other Experience	24	1.9	5	7.8
Total	304	100.0	64	100.0

Under the heading of "Administration" were included the immediately previous experiences of the Directors of Schools of Nursing as Superiors or Superintendents of hospitals, as Assistant Superintendents, or other major administrative positions. Under the heading of "Nursing and Nursing Education" were included immediately previous activities as directors of nursing service, as supervisors or assistant supervisors, as instructors in schools of nursing, as directors of schools of nursing, or as assistant directors. Under the general heading of "Hospital Departmental Experience" was included the experience of present incumbents as directors in such positions as that of the pharmacist, a laboratory technician, or dietitian. Finally, under the general heading of "Other Experience," the table shows clearly that, for the most part, the directors of the schools of nursing are appointed on the basis of their previous experience in the schools, usually in a subordinate position.

Of the present incumbents, 106 out of 258 schools had been directors or assistant directors of Catholic schools of nursing; 80 had been supervisors or assistant supervisors; 52, instructors, and 20 directors of nursing service. Eighty-four and nine tenths (84.9) per cent of the present directors of nursing have had experience in nursing or nursing education chiefly in the latter immediately preceding their present appointment. The corresponding percentage for Canada was found to be 78.1. Five and three tenths (5.3) per cent in the United States and 1.6 per cent in Canada of the present incumbents as directors of schools of nursing had been appointed after having served in an administrative capacity in the hospitals, while 7.9 per cent in the United States and 12.5 per cent in Canada, after having occupied positions of departmental experience in the hospitals.

6. Tenure of Office

Continuous incumbency in the position of the director of the school should be a factor in guaranteeing progressive development in a school of nursing. Approximately one fifth or 22.3 per cent of the present directors in the Catholic schools of the United States have been in their present office for less than one year; 36.3 per cent for one to three years; 12.1 per cent for 4 to 6 years; 11.4 per cent for 7 to 9 years, and the remainder, 17.9 per cent for more than 9 years.

In Canada, only 11.7 per cent of the directors have been in office for less than one year; 36.7 per cent for one to three years; 25 per cent for 4 to 6 years; 15 per cent for 7 to 9 years, and the remainder, 11.7 per cent for more than 9 years.

In both countries these facts presented in Table XIV indicate a satisfactory condition with reference to the continuance of tenure for the Sisters occupying the chief position in our Catholic schools of nursing.

7. Educational Preparation of Sisters Director

The Association has been keenly interested in watching the increase over a period of years of the Sisters Director of the schools who have secured their bachelor's degrees. This year again as in a number of previous years an increase is noted. In 1938, 161, and in 1939, 188 of the Sisters Director have achieved the bachelor's degree. In terms of percentages of the schools last year 44.4 per cent and in the current year 52.2 per cent of the Sisters Director in the Catholic schools of nursing of the United States are holders of the bachelor's degree. In Canada, the number has remained unchanged, there being 21 Sisters who hold a bachelor's degree representing 28 per cent of the schools. To these numbers should be added the 25 Sisters now presiding over the schools of nursing who have obtained their master's degree. Fully 60 per cent, therefore, of the Catholic schools of nursing of the United States are now directed by Sisters who have achieved at least the bachelor's degree, this percentage being contrasted with last year's when it was 51.6. The increase in this respect of a number of Sisters has been the most noteworthy which has been found since this particular matter was made the object of special study.

Changes in the directors during the last year have been made in 84 of the schools (23.3 per cent), as contrasted with 76 of the schools (20.9 per cent) in the previous year. There has also been a slight increase in the number of lay nurse directors. The number of such positions has increased from 30 to 32 and the percentage of lay incumbents, from 8.3 to 8.9 per cent.

8. Administrative Procedures in Schools of Nursing

The growing interest in school administration in our Catholic schools of nursing has made it possible for the first time to assemble data on certain phases of this important matter.

a) Budgeting and Budget Control

The influence of the budget of the school on the establishment, development, and continuity of policies is well understood in the general field of education. In the schools of nursing, the matter presents particular problems, chiefly because historically the schools of nursing have developed in such close continuity with the hospitals and because the schools of nursing have received the subsidies for their educational expense from the hospitals. It is becoming increasingly clear to nursing school administrators that the conduct of the school on the basis of budgeting and budget control need not and in most cases should not disturb the financial relationships between the school and the hospital.

An inquiry upon this point yielded the information that 48 out of a total of 315 replies or approximately 15 per cent of the schools are attempting some form of school control through the budget. In 32 of these schools the budget is prepared by the director of the school; in 7, by the superintendent of the hospital; and in the remaining 9 schools by various persons such as the assistant director, a special committee, a supervisor, a Sister Procurator, or the Sister Registrar.

In fourteen of the schools, the budget of the school of nursing is said to be approved by the Sister

Superior of the community; in 13 by the Sister Superintendent. We may assume, therefore, that in 27 of the 48 schools, the Sister Superior, or by whatever name she may be designated, is the approving authority. In only 8 of the schools apparently, to judge from the results must the budget of the school of nursing be approved by an authority outside of the hospital or the school of nursing, but, on the other hand, in only 3 of the 48 schools is the budget actually submitted to a Board of final control. For the most part, the approval of the budget is left to individuals.

Thirty-one of the 48 schools attempting budgeting procedures are including administrative costs in the budget and in 37 of these schools the Sister Director administers the budget.

b) Student Fees

A curious inversion of viewpoint arising directly out of the special character of the schools of nursing is noticeable when one compares the schools of nursing with Colleges of Liberal Arts. In the latter, funds arising from sources other than students' fees are considered highly desirable and schools are regarded as open to a measure of criticism if they are conducted largely on the basis of student funds. In the schools of nursing, on the other hand, due to the fact that schools of nursing were supported formerly almost exclusively on funds derived from the hospital, the education of the student nurse became not so much the student's but rather the hospital's responsibility; the underlying theory being that the student nurse was supplying the service to the hospital; whereas in the colleges, therefore, a general tendency is noted of reducing the preponderance of student fees in school administration. Quite the reverse is the tendency today in schools of nursing.

For this reason a study of the student fees charged by schools of nursing of the student nurses is not devoid of considerable significance. One hundred and thirty-seven schools of nursing, or 57 per cent, of our Catholic schools stated that they are charging their students some form of fees. Of this number, however, only 61 gave an explanation. In giving such details, terminology is not always consistent, since in the schools time has not permitted the more or less uniform understanding of certain terms; thus for example, 58 schools say that they charge an entrance fee, and 23 additional schools require a matriculation fee; 61 schools defined their charges to the students as a "school fee"; and 15 as a "specified educational fee." One hundred and thirty-seven state that they are requiring some form of tuition, but it is obvious that tuition is not understood only as a charge against the students for the school's educational expenditure but in some cases a charge against a student for services rendered to her by the school, in addition to the cost of her education. Again, 133 schools charge the student nurse for textbooks and 113 for uniforms; 23 schools make charges upon the student nurse for maintenance; 24, for the educational expenditures of the school; and 36 have various and miscellaneous fees.

An effort was made in this year's inquiry to ascertain the amount of the total fees charged of the students by the school and the amounts reported were arranged in a frequency table. The results are given in Table XV. Thirty-four of the schools, or 17.1 per cent, charged their students up to $50.00 per year; an additional group of 86 schools, or 43.4 per cent, charged between $50.00 and $100.00; 66 schools, or 33.3 per cent, of the schools charged between $100.00 and $200.00; 10 out of 198, or 5.1 per cent, of the schools charged between $200.00 and $300.00; and, finally, there are 2 schools which charge the student nurse in excess of $300.00. In some of these replies, the charge may be a semester charge or a session charge, and since there is no clear statement upon this point, the content of Table XV must be taken with this limitation in mind.

9. Student Guidance Programs

The attention which has been directed to the study of the guidance programs of our schools of nursing is undoubtedly one of the healthiest indications of the desire of our schools to conform to superior educational practice. On the one hand, there is evidence of a vast amount of good will and serious good intentions and on the other hand there seems to be considerable vagueness and indecision with reference to the establishment of an actual program. It must be admitted that even the colleges have failed to understand how in each particular institution the guidance program can be integrated into the educational program and many practices have been introduced which with the growing concern of the colleges for their educational purposes will, undoubtedly, be modified. The basic thought that the primary purpose of an intensive program is individualizing of the school's educational practice has helped many schools in achieving an intelligent, even if necessary an informal, but nevertheless effective, guidance program.

In a guidance program, there usually is satisfactory differentiation between educational, vocational, personal, and spiritual guidance, all four of which fields might be developed either on the basis of group activity or on that of individualized activity. In this connection, it might be well to tabulate, first of all, the list of those persons who in the return questionnaire were said to be active in performing certain functions of the guidance program. For effective educational guidance, different schools suggest:

a) Educational Guidance

One hundred and ninety-three schools in the United States and 26 in Canada state that they had an educational guidance program. Of these 81 in the United States and 14 in Canada are carrrying out this function through one of the members of the Sisterhood; 34 and 2 respectively by individual lay persons; 77 and 10 respectively by more than one person. In 127 schools this form of guidance is the responsibility of the director or the assistant director; in 49, of the instructors; in 13, of some other faculty members; in 9, of the student counsellor; in 7, of the supervisors; in 6, of the superintendent of the hospital.

In Canada 19 directors or assistant directors advised with reference to educational guidance; 7 instructors and 2 faculty members carry on some form of educational guidance.

b) Vocational Guidance

Vocational guidance is approximately as successful in attracting guidance personnel as is educational guidance. There are 114 Sisters Director or Assistant Directors in the United States and 11 in Canada who reserve to themselves some form or another of this guidance program. In 45 other schools, vocational guidance is carried out by instructors, counsellors, and other faculty members; in Canada, however, this work is entrusted almost exclusively to the director of the school.

c) Personal Guidance

In 112 of the schools, personal guidance is entrusted to the director; in 22, to the assistant director; in 59 of the schools to a faculty member, and in 22 of the schools to the officials of the school of nursing. In 16 of the schools of Canada, personal guidance is entrusted to the director or assistant director and in 3 of the schools, to instructors and student counsellors.

d) Spiritual Guidance

Lastly, it might be noted that spiritual guidance probably by reason of the lack of facilities for obtaining a priest when he is desired is said to lag considerably behind the other phases of the guidance program. In 143 of the schools in the United States and 23 in Canada, the spiritual guidance program is entrusted to the competence and recognized leadership of chaplains or other priests. All of this information is most encouraging indicative as it is of the growing concern of the Catholic school of nursing for such activity. It is gratifying now to know that at least a base line has been established for future mass statistics on this educational area, and significance of our present study lies not so much in revealing the present situation which, after all, is clearly enough realized but in the establishment of a base line from which future developments might be measured. (See Canon Laws 1373, 1381, and 1382.)

10. The Relationship of Catholic Schools of Nursing with Educational Institutions

A phase of nursing education in which our Association has persistently continued an intensive interest is the development of relationships between schools of nursing and educational institutions. It will be recalled that as far back as 1934 our Association adopted tentatively a set of definitions of these relationships for the purpose of classification and consequently, of evaluation. The four classifications are characterized by the terms: (1) Institutional Integration meaning the complete acceptance by a college or university of a school of nursing as one of its constituent units; (2) Institutional Affiliation meaning the acceptance, but with restrictions, by the college of the school of nursing, the limitations concerning themselves chiefly with phases of administrative or educational control; (3) Course Affiliation meaning the acceptance by the college or university of certain courses given by the school of nursing for collegiate credit after assuring itself of sufficient administrative control to justify such action; (4) Accreditation meaning a more or less widely defined acceptance by the college or university of phases of the educational program with, however, a recognition of some collegiate value in the school's activities.

In Table XVI are summarized the data which have been accumulated in the Catholic Hospital Association office with reference to educational relationships. In the United States 217 of the 360 schools have entered into some form of understanding with educational institutions. Of these 217, 182 have entered into a form of agreement with Catholic colleges or universities and 35 with non-Catholic colleges or universities.

The number of student nurses affected by these educational affiliations in the United States totals 16,226. Since the number of student nurses in our Catholic schools of nursing in the United States is 24,571, as many as 66.0 per cent of all our student nurses are affected in varying degrees by these educational relationships. More significant even in these totals, as may be seen by an inspection of Table XVI, is the distribution of the various types of relationships which have been developed. Twenty-four of these are described as institutional integration of the school of nursing into the educational institution, affecting as many as 2,402 student nurses; fifty are institutional affiliations affecting in excess of 4,000 students; ninety-five are course affiliations affecting more than 6,000 students; while forms of accreditation of the school of nursing by the college or university number fifty-eight, affecting in round numbers 4,800 students. An effort has been made in the table, as may be found by careful reading, to eliminate duplications, so that it may be confidently stated that the data summarized in the table are accurate and reliable, based though they are on the statements made by the schools themselves.

In Canada 42 schools of nursing have entered into some form of agreement with educational institutions, 36 of them with Catholic colleges or universities and 6 with non-Catholic colleges and universities. In Canada, 2,767 students are affected by these educational relationships, by far the greater majority being with Catholic institutions of learning.

If Table XVI is studied in conjunction with Table XVII, the development of educational relationships becomes apparent. In 1938 there were only 179 schools in these relationships, whereas in the last year the number had increased to 217. The percentage of our Catholic schools of nursing in these relationships has increased from 49.6 per cent to 60 per cent in one year. Similarly, the percentage of the students in our Catholic schools of nursing affected by these forms of educational relationships has increased from 57.6 per cent to 66.0 per cent in one year. Equally striking are the facts revealed by Table XVII relative to the situation in Canada. While only two schools of nursing have completed these arrangements during the past year, the percentage of schools has risen in one year from 51.9 per cent to 56 per cent. The percentage of students affected, however, has remained almost stationary, a slight rise being recorded from 60.3 per cent to 60.5 per cent.

The plans of cooperation between schools of nursing and the colleges and universities have had a noteworthy effect not only upon the schools of nursing but also on the colleges and universities. Thus, for example, the North Central Association scheduled a discussion of these cooperative arrangements for its annual meeting and it is thought likely that the presentation of a paper upon this important topic will elicit extensive comments from the administrative and educational officers of the institutional members of that association. The colleges have felt the increase in their enrollments both directly and indirectly traceable to the relationship to the schools of nursing. In many of the institutions there has been a stimulation towards a more intense study of educational programs, and, moreover, the emphasis which has been placed upon the development of cultural objectives through the curricula offerings for the nurses has led many of the educational institutions to a re-examination and new formulation of its purposes. As for the effect on the schools of nursing, any observer cannot but admit that the interests of professional education have been greatly fostered by these interrelationships. The curricula in our schools of nursing, the administrative procedures, the concern for student welfare, and many other phases of college activity have been advanced in our schools of nursing .

As far as possible, the arrangement and coding in all of these directories is uniform, so that the use of these directories will be facilitated.

2. The Arrangement of Hospital Directory

Again we are using a vertical arrangement for the pages. This has necessitated the use of at least two and sometimes more lines for each of the hospitals, so that significant data might be adequately presented. The hospitals are listed by state, the states being arranged in alphabetical order and within each state the names of the cities and towns are again sub-alphabetized. The hospitals in a given locality, city, or town are listed in their respective alphabetical order the same arrangements prevailing for the provinces and other political divisions of Canada.

The dioceses in which the various hospitals are located are set out to the right of the name of the city or town. The full name and address of the hospital falls in the second column. Special attention must be called to the next column in which a code number appears which refers to the full name and other information of the Sisterhood or Brotherhood conducting the institution. The lists of these Sisterhoods and Brotherhoods together with pertinent data appear in Table X. The year in which the hospital was established follows in another column and immediately to the right there appears a double column listing the number of beds and bassinets together with, in a line immediately below a series of symbols descriptive of the institution's status, facilities, and activities. The name of the superintendent of the hospital and of the director of nurses follows in another column, the latter's name being indented in the typesetting. Finally, in the last column, we find the name of the chief of staff and of the chaplain of the institution.

3. The Hospital Directory Code

Due to the necessity of conserving space and to further necessity of making significant data easily available to the reader, compilers of directories find themselves forced to abbreviate the information which they supply to the student and the reader. The establishment of a code has been found the most usable technique, first of all, in condensing a large amount of information into a small place and secondly in making the meaning of a directory easily clear. Persons consulting this directory should give a few moments' study to the symbols, so that the directory may be found more serviceable. The reader, however, may be assured that every effort has been made by the editors to anticipate the purposes of those who consult these pages.

The code used in this directory is the following:

(Placed after the street address)

a A.C.S. Fully Approved	c^1 Cardiology

7. The Arrangement of the School of Nursing Directory

Previously, we have described the arrangement of the hospital directory. We have also indicated that an effort is made to develop uniform arrangement for the convenience of the reader. Accordingly, it will be found that the Directory of Catholic Schools of Nursing is presented vertically. In the first column will be found the names of the state and city or town in which the school is located. The states are arranged alphabetically, similarly, the cities and towns within a state. In the second column will be found the name and address of the school. The column which follows has been reserved for a code number to designate the Sisterhood or Brotherhood conducting the school. The list of these Sisterhoods and Brotherhoods may be found in Table X and XI. The year of establishment of the school is reported in the next column, while immediately to the right the capacity of the hospital to which the school of nursing is attached is reported and on the line below opposite the address of the school, space is provided for the insertion of symbols which describe some of the facilities and activities of the school. Following this, the student enrollment is reported. In the next column the name of the director of the school is printed. Finally, space has been provided for the school's educational affiliation, there being given the name and address of the university or college with which the school of nursing is affiliated, and in a special column the year in which the affiliation was effected.

8. The School of Nursing Directory Code

As in previous years, the editors have followed the technique of devising a code or series of symbols to indicate the status of the school, to provide information concerning the school's facilities, and to designate, too, some of the activities of the school. Except for a few items for which special notes appear below, the code is the same for Canada and the United States schools. These symbols are as follows:

(Placed after the street address of the Agency)

- a A.C.S. Fully Approved
- a[1] A.C.S. Provisionally Approved
- b A.M.A. Internship Approval (In the U. S.) (In Canada the Canadian Medical Association — C.M.A., approves and recommends hospitals for internships.)

Appendix — The Buying Directory

Responsible Sources of Supply in Hospital Construction, Equipment, Operation, and Maintenance

Efficient and continuous service in the hospital care of the sick depends upon the cooperative and coordinated action of the entire personnel of the institution. Nowhere is the need more vital than in the hospitals where every action is focused on safeguarding the life of the patient.

Communities of Sisters in the Administration of their hospitals, doctors applying their professional skill in these institutions, nurses in their immediate care of the sick, are units in the finest type of cooperative action concentrated on the safeguarding of human lives.

But there is another factor most important and very essential to the cooperative action of these vital units; namely, the physical means of carrying on this work — efficient buildings; essential equipment, medical and surgical supplies — generally provided through the established hospital trade.

Through its membership, through the publication of Hospital Progress the Official Journal, through the annual convention exhibits, the Catholic Hospital Association recognizes the important place and service of the established hospital trade in the efficient operation of the Catholic hospitals.

Therefore, in the publication of this Directory Number of Hospital Progress, the advertising of manufacturers and dealers is included as another means of providing this very necessary service for supplies and equipment.

The advertising policy of Hospital Progress has been restrictive rather than extensive. The administrators of this Journal have given evidence of the sincerity of their purpose by adopting as a fixed policy the advertising of those pharmaceutical preparations only which have been accepted by the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry of the American Medical Association. In like manner on all other classes of hospital supplies Hospital Progress regards the responsibility of admitting advertisements to its pages as a serious ethical and professional duty. The admission of a firm to its advertising pages, therefore, should carry with it such endorsement as is afforded by the approval of a group of persons who are keenly aware of their ethical responsibilities.

The publication of advertising in this Directory Number and in the regular issues of Hospital Progress carries with it an assurance of satisfactory service and any experience to the contrary should be promptly brought to the attention of the publishers or the Catholic Hospital Association. In demonstrating the right to leadership in their respective fields, the firms listed in this Directory merit careful consideration when buying equipment and supplies.

We, therefore, direct the attention of the Catholic hospitals to the established hospital trade as represented in the pages of the Buying Directory in this special issue, as well as in the regular issues of Hospital Progress. These concerns, through their advertising in Hospital Progress, express their ability and interest in serving the Catholic hospitals, and merit your favorable consideration when purchasing equipment and supplies.

The advertising of manufacturers and dealers on the following pages of this Directory, as well as in the monthly issues of Hospital Progress, will serve as a convenient source of supply covering your hospital requirements. Your request to these advertisers will bring immediate response, and these firms are especially recommended for your favorable consideration in purchasing your needed requirements.

The advertising index, beginning on page 56A, lists the advertisers alphabetically, including a condensed statement covering the key products and services they offer. The Directory of Equipment and Supplies, beginning on page 40A, is a classified list of the products of companies advertising in this directory which will serve as a convenient guide in making up your buying lists.
